Cut the weeds from the sidewalks! They are a nuisance and take from the granitoid pavement its cleanliness and beauty. One thing I note: wherever the street fronts the residence in sole charge of the housewife the walks are trim and clean, while in some instances the families blest with big, burly men-folk let the weeds have their way without let or hindrance. Go to the lone widow, Thou sluggard, for an example!

R. M. Duckett drove a new Ford in Greenville Saturday evening from St. Louis. Accompanied by Walter Bollinger, the Ford agent, he left St. Louis Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Ironton was reached shortly before midnight, though several hours were spent at different towns along the route. Leaving Ironton early next morning 35 miles of real bad road were overcome and he drove into Greenville by way of Piedmont at six o'clock Saturday evening. His is the first of the new model Fords to be seen in Greenville. —Wayne County Journal.

Mrs. Geo. Leff was badly bruised and skinned about the head and face in a fall she sustained in jumping from a rig going down the hill, at N. Alliger's place, east of town, leading to the Shut-In ford of Stout's creek. In going down the hill some part of the harness gave way, throwing the rig on the horse and starting him to run. Then Mrs. Leff jumped; the other occupants of the spring wagon made no effort to get out and escaped injury, as the horse stopped running soon after reaching the foot of the hill. Mrs. Leff sustained no serious injuries but was confined to her room several days after the accident.

The religious war now being waged in Kennett is the biggest thing that has ever happened in the history of the city. The Soldiers of the Cross have made fresh progress and have brilliantly carried by assault many, many citadels that were formerly held by the devil. The battles which began a few weeks ago continue with intensity and all the ground conquered is being held. All prisoners captured are put into the front ranks of the Army of the Lord and are proving themselves furious fighters. Generals Burke and Hobbs with the entire staff, including Lieutenants Loes and Loes, Colonels Goldsmith and Ward and the many other officers and privates are doing great work. If the armies of Europe had had this staff of fighters when their war began it would have been over with and those countries that are now engaged in bloody conflict would have been experiencing the sweet blessings of prosperity, peace and love. —Dunklin County News.

On Monday of last week Mr. H. M. Blossom, of St. Louis, who has control of the Emerson property in south Ironton, forwarded a letter to Ironton stating that he would donate to the Ironton School District a site for the proposed high school off the west end of the Emerson place. Soon after writing this letter Mr. Blossom seems to have changed his mind for he followed the letter with a telegram, withdrawing the proposition of donating a site and requesting that the letter be kept from the public. But the letter got here ahead of the telegram and its contents spread about town before the telegram was received. The eldest son of Mr. Blossom was here from St. Louis Saturday and said the family would not consider the proposition of donating a site, that his aunt, who was the real owner of the place, said that the only way to get any portion of the property would be to buy it all. She would not, under any circumstance, consider the sale of a portion of it.

A most distressing fatality is reported from the vicinity of Roselle in Madison county. Last Saturday morning, before day, Abe Wright, Jr., about sixteen years of age, who lives with his father about a mile and a quarter northeast of the Roselle store was awakened by the dogs barking at some one in the yard. He grabbed a pistol and fired several shots. He saw some one fall and heard a cry of terror and anguish. Investigation revealed that the boy had shot his grandmother, probably eighty years of age, who lived in the same house with them, but whose absence from her room had not been noted. Examination disclosed that the unfortunate woman had been shot in the knee and the arm. She died within a couple of hours. It is supposed that death resulted from the shock, probably more than from the wounds. The remains were taken to Doe Run for interment Sunday. No inquest was held. The Wrights have lived in the Roselle country about four years.

Last Monday evening I was honored with an invitation to attend the after-services of Ironton Chapter, O. E. S.: that is to say, the proceedings subsequent to the regular session, which was capped to a close at about 9:00. Entering the hall under the guidance and care of Bro. Hawkins, a cordial greeting was given me by the ladies and gentlemen of the Chapter. After a little time given to informal social intercourse, the ladies daintily served us with delicious cream and cake and here—though ordinarily retiring and bashful, as becomes my tender years—I was thoroughly "at home," and gallantly played my part. I take no special credit, though, for every other masculine present did his devoir as fully and heartily. The refreshments were followed by a little programme of reading and music by the ladies, whose efforts were rewarded by deserved applause. Then we, after a little more communing with each other, all said "Good Night" and went our several homeward ways. I will not soon forget the gratifying courtesy extended me by the members of Ironton Chapter No. 349. May long continued happiness and prosperity be theirs, individually and collectively!

The Stevenson boys all met here Sunday. There are ten of them. Grandma Stevenson had a family reunion and dinner on College Hill. There is but one daughter, Mrs. Bertha Lewis, who was also present. After dinner a picture was made of the group. They are all good, honest men, and the smile their mother wore while they were all assembled together gave us to know how proud she was of those children. She certainly should feel thankful to the Lord for sparing her children to grow to be honorable men and women. May they live to spend many more happy reunions is the wish of their old friend, ISAAC.

A game of base ball was played at Goodman's, on Richland creek, between the Hyatt's creek and Richland creek nines. The former won. Although along in years Wm. Goodman was about as spry as any of the boys.

Guess a base ball game and wedding at his home all in one day was enough to make him feel a little spry.

The picnic in the Silvey Grove on last Saturday was well attended. The day was ideal for an outing, the amusements were all right, the dinner was good, and the music by the Stephens' String Band was much appreciated. All went well until late in the afternoon, there arrived on the scene a crowd of boys from outside our own community, bringing with them that which only finds its place with such an element, and some disturbance arose, but they were taken charge of before anything very serious resulted. We fail to understand how any young man, with even common sense can put to his lips, that which he knows will overpower him, will derange his reason, rob him of his character, and turn him into a staggering, babbling, lurching stock. It is a deplorable condition and makes us sick at heart to see intelligent young men sink so low. It should appeal to every father, mother, and sister of these deluded boys to join hands against this mighty foe for something is radically wrong. We live in—what we claim to be—a dry county. We are surrounded by dry (?) counties; then whence cometh this trouble? ALPHA.
